Prevent wildfires while operating ATVs and UTVs

All-terrain vehicles (ATVs) and utility-terrain vehicles vehicles (UTVs) can be a great resource for work or play for many user groups across North Dakota. However, due to the high fire risk in many locations across the state, they can also be a cause of concern if precautions are not followed while operating.

"All it takes is one spark to start a fire, whether that occurs while driving an ATV or UTV in a crop field, riding a fence line with tall, dead grass, or from simply parking the vehicle in an area with tall grass," says Ang-ie Johnson, North Dakota State University Extension farm and ranch safety coordinator. "Focusing on personal safety, such as always wearing a helmet during every ATV ride, and always wearing your seatbelt when driving and riding as a pas-senger in a UTV is incredibly important, but we must also be diligent in protecting property by practicing fire prevention techniques with our vehicles."

Since ATVs and UTVs are used in agricultural, recreational and hunting settings, all ATV and UTV operators are asked to place personal and fire safety first during every ride – no matter the purpose of your ATV/UTV ride.

"We all play a role in preventing wildfires, especially under current conditions," says Tony Hillig, North Da-kota Parks and Recreation Department division chief. "To stay vigilant, we ask all riders to stay on designated trails, respect fire restrictions and keep your vehicle well-maintained to reduce the risk of starting a wildfire."

North Dakota Game and Fish Department communications supervisor, Greg Freeman, agrees that all ATV and UTV operators must work together to protect our resources.

"Always know what the fire danger index and county burn restrictions are in your area before venturing out into the field," says Freeman. "If you see something, report the situation immediately to law enforcement authorities.'

To protect people and property, NDSU Extension, the North Dakota Parks and Recreation Department, and the North Dakota Game and Fish Department are encouraging ATV and UTV owners to practice fire prevention techniques to prevent injuries and fire risks. Photo courtesy of Bobcat Company.

Fire prevention recom-mendations when using ATVs and UTVs:

• Be sure chains and other metal parts are not dragging from your vehi-cle, as they can they throw sparks.

• Check your tire pressure. Driving on an exposed wheel rim can cause sparks.

• Stay on trails and avoid riding or parking in tall grass. Hot exhaust pipes can start the grass on fire. You may not even notice the fire until it is too late.

• Never let your brake pads wear too thin as metal-on-metal causes sparks.

• Make sure your spark arrester is installed and free of carbon buildup.

• Riders should carry a shovel and a water source or fire extinguisher when operating in high- or extreme-ly-high fire conditions.

Johnson also encourages ATV and UTV owners to keep their vehicles clean to ensure rider safety and fire procedures for all ATV and UTV owners, which can "Take the time to clean your ATVs and UTVs, as plant seeds, leaves and also help prevent fires. stems can accumulate in certain areas of the ma-
